To whom it may concern:

In November 1996 I furnished an audio recording to be used as a station ID for Glenn Baxter's amateur radio station, K1MAN. After its initial airings I received numerous letters from "ham" radio operators all over the country complaining of his inappropriate use of the amateur airwaves to promote his for-profit organization, ARRA -- for which he also was using my name, likeness and voice without my permission.

Shortly thereafter, I made the reasonable request that he cease and desist from using the recording. As a journalist I have a long-held practice of not lending my name to support or promote any commercial entity. His response was a flat refusal and he continued, undaunted, even after a follow up request by my attorney.

I understand that the FCC has found him to be in violation of many of its rules and has issued a $21,000 notice of liability against him, yet his amateur radio license is up for renewal, expiring on October 17, 2005.

Based on my personal experience of his lack of ethics and the long list of his well-documented offenses against the regulations of amateur radio broadcasting, I support a petition to deny the renewal of his amateur radio license.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Walter Cronkite
